

DCRC

Dementia Centre for Research Collaboration

Culture at the centre of ageing research and dementia prevention with Aboriginal & Torres Strait Islander peoples

Hosted by Dementia Centre for Research Collaboration and NeURA

This webinar will focus on the cultural aspects of dementia prevention through the lens of a community-based team working with Aboriginal peoples and organisations across regional and urban areas of NSW. Drawing on our collective experiences in dementia research and knowledge translation, we address the question: how is culture central to all that we do?

Specifically, the webinar will include discussion of (1) The meaning of culture and its role in understanding connections to mind, body, and spirit, and conceptualising the links to the brain and cognitive health; (2) How culture underpins the research and knowledge translation process; (3) The ways in which culture has informed and guided our work and emerged as a key aspect of the research findings through three practical examples from our previous projects.. Read More

For more information: DCRC dementiaresearch.org.au

EVENT DETAILS

Presenters: Terry Donovan, Kylie Sullivan, Lauren Poulos, Louise Lavrencic, Sharon Wall, Wendy Allan and Kylie Radford – on behalf of the Aboriginal Health & Ageing Program at NeuRA

Cost: No cost to attend

Date: Monday, 22 November

Time: 3:00pm - 4:30pm (AEDT)
2:00pm – 3:30pm (AEST)
2:30pm – 4:00pm (ACDT)
1:30pm – 3:00pm (ACST)
12:00pm – 1:30pm (AWST)

Venue: Online via Zoom

Register:

<https://tinyurl.com/vehkvnhk>